

Dance in Deutschland

Fundraising project for the German Junior Folk Dancers' cross-culture travel to Germany in 2011

Our all new project 'Dance in Deutschland' is taking shape after some brainstorming amongst the member families. The summer of 2011 was chosen as our travel date, giving us plenty of time to plan and tackle the logistics involved.

The destination is southern Germany, with a minimum 3 day stop in Balingen, in the "Haus der Volkskunst" where our dancers will take part in folkdance workshops. Following that, we'll take in the culture by being tourists and visiting some typical German festivals. Our families are looking forward to experiencing some of Deutschland that over the years, they have only heard about; and to see for themselves, some of the folkdances our children have performed for a Canadian audience for over 10 years.

A special trip to the Playmobil Fun Park is also a must, as we have been playing with this German toy, as well as designed and set-up interactive displays, for many years now.

We have connected with a youth dance group in Austria through the internet, and may do a short stopover to visit that country as well. The list of things to see, do and taste is still quite incomplete, but should be fun to work on as this project takes shape.

To help offset costs for this culture trip, we're beginning with our fundraising and are looking for sponsors who might benefit from our dance group sporting their logo on T-shirts or backpacks wherever we go. And, of course, get recognition for making it possible to bring a whole new show to our Saskatchewan audiences upon our return.
